

A little about yourself

- I'm a student in Spain.
- I'm on my first year of business administration.
- English is very important for my studies because I get a lot of documents in English.
- I have to read and write e-mails but I don't speak much English at the moment.
- It's difficult to understand but I love it.
- I need English for my job (in the future) because I will have to speak on the phone and work with people from other countries.
